Does Rivet School help students earn associates degrees, or just bachelor's degrees?

Students enrolled in degree programs offered through Southern New Hampshire University begin in the "associate degree track." Once students earn their associate degree, they then begin their bachelor's degree coursework. (Students who have under 60 transferable credits have the option to have a course by course evaluation, and may be eligible to transfer credits to the "associate's degree track". Students who enter into our program with 60 transferable credits – or already having earned an associate's degree – may be eligible to begin directly on the BA track.

What is the tuition and can students get financial aid?

- Tuition is $2,333 per term ($7,000 per year)
- Tuition is paid over three terms in the year or through a monthly payment plan
- Rivet School helps applicants complete federal financial aid forms and scholarship applications to cover as much of the cost of tuition as possible

What sets this program apart?

- Completely virtual and flexible: Students go at their own pace and on their own hours. The program is completely project-based meaning there are no tests and no set class times.
- Free 6-week onboarding: Rivet School wants to make sure that the program is the right fit for students. There is no cost for the first six weeks of onboarding so students can try out the program and see if it is the right fit.
- Personalized coaching: Rivet School provides weekly 1 on 1 coaching to ensure students get all the support they need from academics to goal-setting.
